5 Keys to Finding a Career You'll Love

1. Stay in high school. Do your best in school and challenge yourself with lots of science and math classes.
2. Schedule an appointment with your school counselor for a career assessment. Find out your "natural abilities," interests, and preferred work style.
3. Find out how much education they require and the best universities for them. Most of the careers on this guide require at least a bachelor's degree from college.
4. Volunteer in a field that interests you and check out internship programs. Sometimes companies hire their volunteers and interns after they earn the needed college degrees.
5. Ask people who work in a career that interests you if you can interview and/or shadow them for a day.
